

Why should we, human living after the fact, even care about the Holocaust?

By Roshan Lamichhane

12/12/2018

The reason we as human beings should care about the Holocaust is because we have got a lot of things to learn from the Holocaust. Caring about the Holocaust is something we should do because it is a major piece of world history. The Holocaust shows us the horrifying incidents of World War II. The Holocaust demonstrated to us how individuals who were the victim of the Holocaust experienced horrible things like getting burned or being raped.

Something else the Holocaust demonstrated to us is that a movement can happen when there is a mistreatment of force or power. The word Holocaust means “forfeit by flame”. The principal thing is Adolf Hitler Rose to Power. Adolf Hitler was both a ground-breaking and dominant speaker. Adolf Hitler had pulled a massive amounts of Germans who were mostly jobless individuals, adolescents and the lower white collar class individuals that wanted change. Adolf Hitler was assigned to be the leader of the German government on January of 1933. Adolf Hitler’s gathering was known as Nazi or The National Socialist German Workers gathering.

Quickly after Adolf Hitler was allotted as the leader of the German government the Nazi’s intended to get rid of the Jews. The Nazi’s aim to dispose the Jews was called the Final Solution. The Final Solution contained gassing, shooting, raping, and irregular demonstrations of dread, malady and starvation which resulted in the murder around six million Jews. Around three million Jews were gassed in places like concentration camps. There were likewise all-around murdering squads. The murdering squads would shoot every single Jewish man, ladies, and youngsters, regardless of what their age was. In excess of a million Jews were executed thusly. At the point when the Nazi's initially assumed control they set up death camps. The camps made any individual who needed to remain there hopeless. They were complete and absolute torment. We need to know how intense the war had gotten. The war involved battles on air, sea and the occasional place, land.

The Nazi group that Adolf Hitler supported and controlled mass murdered innocent people who had done nothing wrong. This involved hoarding Jews until the German surrender of the war. This War was based off race laws, discrimination and categorizing people undesirably in sick and twisted ways. We need to learn about terrible events that happened so that we will know what cruel people there are. The things we learned about are terrifying. We learned about the gas chambers, and all the intense ways that the Nazi killed the Jews. Adolf Hitler was one of the most worst people in the war history, and the worst part was that he thought this was okay. This mass genocide left everyone mad, terrified, and of course left many dead. Six million Jews who lived in Europe died. We need to learn about the holocaust to inform ourselves and everybody around us about things Adolf Hitler did, we need to educate ourselves to know what could happen in the future, to gain knowledge of the strident ways of the horrible treatment and discrimination of Jews and undesirables, to realize how extreme the concentration camps actually were. We also need to realize how far Adolf Hitler had went to get what he called the final solution. When we educate ourselves about things like the Holocaust, we are able to prevent something like another Holocaust from ever happening again. I believe everyone should care about the Holocaust so we will remember the time when people were living in a harsh condition and also to remember the people who were involved to stop the Holocaust.

We should all care about the Holocaust so we can avoid hate. The Holocaust was one of the first mass genocide even though it was not the last. If the world does not come to terms then something like the Holocaust may happen again, but instead of the Jews it may be the Muslims or the Hindus etc. There are still Holocaust survivors who are alive that can teach us so much about the past and help us create a better future where we can all live in peace and avoid hate in every single way possible. During the Holocaust horrible things happened like little children got murdered or raped by soldiers. In the concentration camps in order to not be taken away from their parents or families the children hid in multiple places some places were really disgusting like inside the toilet seat. The Holocaust still has an impact in our very own lives. There have been incidents like the violent Charlottesville incident. We never forget the things we as human beings care about which is why we should care about the Holocaust so we will remember it and pass down the events of what happened to future generations and make sure they care about the Holocaust and pass it down to the future generations and tell them to repeat the process so no one will ever be so cruel like Adolf Hitler. The Holocaust truly costed millions of innocent peoples life. These here are the reasons why we human living after the fact even care about the Holocaust.